

R.E.D.I Program

What is R.E.D.I. ?

(Retail Employees with Disabilities Initiative)

This is a program that allows individuals with disabilities the opportunity to gain exposure working in a retail setting while building their skill set.

The training program is designed as a 6 week (25 hrs. per week) or a 4 week (37 hrs. per week) course that teaches individuals with disabilities how to become proficient in customer service, cash handling, merchandise receiving and stocking, and display and signage.

- Graduates of Walgreens R.E.D.I. training program receive knowledge and skills necessary to better prepare them for employment in a retail environment.
- Graduates gain social and customer service skills including the value of teamwork and strong work ethics.
- Graduates have the opportunity to apply and interview for available positions within Walgreens.
